Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-19 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-29 of U.S. Patent No. 6,720,187.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both are directed to a sampling device having an input chamber and output chamber connected to each other by one or more chambers that are arranged in a circular arc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Kellogg et al. (USP 6,143,248).

Kellogg et al. teach a centrifugal rotor. Examples 1-2 in columns 31-33 further teach a common input chamber "A", a plurality of capillary chambers "B", a second chamber "E" all connected to an overflow chamber "D". The claimed "rectangular body" has been read on the taught rotor. The claimed "input chamber, output chamber and primary/secondary process chamber located between the input chamber and the output chamber" has been read on the taught common input chamber "A", a plurality of capillary chambers "B", a second chamber "E" all connected to an overflow chamber "D". The instant claim language also requires the process arrays to be arranged in a circular arc. The Office maintains all of the elements taught by Kellogg et al. are arranged in a circular arc around the disk axis as shown in figure 12.

The Examiner acknowledges receipt of the information disclosure statements filed 12/5/06;2/21/06;10/20/04;10/22/04; 7/12/04. There is no requirement that applicants explain the materiality of these references, however the cloaking of a clearly relevant reference in a long list of references or in an overly lengthy reference may not comply with applicants' duty to disclose, see Penn Yan Boats, Inc. v. Sea Lark Boats, Inc., 359 F. Supp. 948, aff'd 479 F. 2d. 1338. The Examiner has considered these references in same manner as references encountered during a normal search of Office search files.

Art Unit: 1743

There is no duty to consider these references to a greater extent than those ordinarily looked at during a regular search by the Examiner.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Lyle A. Alexander whose telephone number is 571-272-1254. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Jill Warden can be reached on 571-272-1267. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
